

RHETORIC, POLITICS AND EDUCATION IN RENAISSANCE EUROPE

4 October 2013

Helsinki Collegium for Advanced Studies
Fabianinkatu 24,
Seminar room 136 (ground floor)

Opening words 10.15

Markku Peltonen, University of Helsinki

First session 10.30–12

Chair, Raija Sarasti-Wilenius, University of Helsinki

Cathy Curtis, University of Queensland

Humanist Rhetoric and the Modern Reception of Republicanism: The Cases of More and Vives

Kaarlo Havu, EUI (Florence)

Vives and Erasmus on Rhetoric, Education and Monarchy

Lunch, 12–13.30

Second session, 13.30–15

Chair, Maria Salenius, University of Helsinki

Jennifer Richards, University of Newcastle

The Sound of the Tudor Classroom

Aysha Pollnitz, Grinnell College

The Politics of Translation in Early Modern Europe: An Exercise in Grammar or Rhetoric?

Coffee, 15–15.30

Third session 15.30–17

Chair, Sari Kivistö, University of Helsinki

Antti Tahvanainen

Education and Rhetoric in English Republican Thought: The Role of Passions

S.-J. Savonius-Wroth, University of Helsinki

Parrhesia and Political Agency, 1649–1702

Concluding remarks

Mikko Tolonen, University of Helsinki

Organized by

Department of Philosophy, History, Culture and Arts Studies

Department of Modern Languages

Department of World Cultures

Helsinki Collegium for Advanced Studies

with the generous help of the Faculty of Arts