Archaeologist

University of Helsinki, 2007–2014Researcher, assistant researcher, research assistant

Taking part in various archaeological projects. I worked especially with GIS and other documentation on excavations. My responsibilities often included guiding trainees in various phases of archaeological research. During different projects I also acquired fluent skills in working with historical sources, especially old cadastral maps.

Museovirasto, 2010–2014Assistant researcher, research assistant

Taking part in several archaeological research projects, especially on urban sites. My main responsibility was documentation and GIS. My work included drawing maps in MapInfo and AutoCad. I took part in writing excavation reports, and had the main responsibility for reporting a 2 month urban excavation in Raahe in the summer 2013. I took also part in communication and publicity on the excavations by giving interviews to different news papers and radio and guiding visitors on excavations.

Metsähallitus, 8.10.–25.11.2012Archaeologist

Planning and executing an archaeological field survey in Kirkkonummi, Southern Finland, and writing the survey report. The field survey was concentrated on three small areas where I did an intensive survey on landscape history and changes in landscape use.

City Museum of Lohja, 1.1.–20.2.2011Researcher

Creating a development plan for Tytyri Mining Museum and planning a future exhibition for the Mining Museum. The job gave me good idea of developing museums and museum exhibitions in larger scale. I got also accustomed to work in a team that included professionals from various different branches.

City Museum of Hanko, 2008–2009 (2 months)Näyttelysuunnittelija

Planning and executing a museum exhibition of the archaeology and history of the city of Hanko. I was in responsible for planning the contents of the exhibition and acquiring the objects chosen. I took part in constructing the exhibition and had the main responsibility of its visual appearance. I was also involved in the publicity of the exhibition.

City Museum of Tammisaari 2007 (1 month)Tutkija

Taking part in an archaeological field survey and developing contents for a multimedia environment based on the survey results. The work was done in a little group of researchers and included planning the survey based on old cadastral maps, doing the survey and writing a report that was used as basis for the multimedia.
